

The world in a trap

The fourth part of the trilogy

Contents

Prologue

I. Instead of an introduction, or from squaring the pentagon to the fourth part of the trilogy

II. New pragmatism for new times

The identity of the economics

The state of affairs

Demographic changes

Environmental challenges

Scientific and technological revolution

Non-inclusive globalization

General crisis of neoliberal capitalism

The crisis of liberal democracy

Second Cold War

Goals and method of economics

In search of a new paradigm

Useful economics

III. Political system and socio-economic development

Ideas and interests

Between democracy and authoritarianism

Political system – an end or a means to an end?

Political system and economic development

Entrepreneurship and competitiveness

G7 – between megalomania and responsibility

Disappointment with democracy

Democracy and authoritarianism versus meritocracy and development

Threats to meritocracy

A good prince and a bad dictator

IV. People's planet

From the G20 to COP26

The smell of flowers and the singing of birds

Who will pay for it?

Every cloud has a silver lining?

Ethical dimension of environmental protection

V. Leadership: economics and politics of great change

Perestroika and glasnost

The Round Table and the Berlin Wall

Retrospection
The power of thought

VI. One-third of the century of transformation

The beginning and the end of the post-socialist transformation
The pros and cons of the Polish transformation, or between the neo-colonization and the golden age
Reality and opinions
Post hoc ergo propter hoc
What if ...

VII. Shortageflation 3.0: war economy - state socialism - pandemic crisis

Different faces of inflation
Inflation suppression
Economics of flows and economics of stocks
Shortageflation rate
What's next?
The worse the worse

VIII. Globalization and the Polish issue

The essence of globalization
What's up
Polish roads
Shortening distances

IX. Ending, or how to row uphill

Epilogue

Bibliography

Index