

Grzegorz W. Kolodko

World on the Move

Contents

Navigator	9
I. The world, words and meanings (or how truth, error and falsehood arise in economics and politics, and what to do to see the truth win out)	11
II. The way things happen (or how economic processes operate, how they relate to science, politics and chance, and who the culprit is)	40
III. A brief history of the world, with lessons to learn (or why some nations are rich and some are poor, and whether it must always be like that)	58
IV. Globalization – what next? (or what is the origin of globalization and how to get one’s fair share in an interdependent world)	92
V. The world as it is (or how’s life and business in various corners of the changing world)	139
VI. Neoliberalism in decline: a sorry legacy (or why a harmful idea held sway, for a while, over half the world and how to cope with the mess it has left behind)	206
VII. Development and its drivers (or where socio-economic development stems from and whether it can make us happy)	257
VIII. Stagnation-inducing and growth-stimulating institutions and policies (or the rules of the economic game, destructive and progressive policies, and the contribution culture makes to development)	291
IX. A coincidence-based development theory and new pragmatism (or what output growth and economic development hinge upon and how to make things better)	315
X. Uncertain outlook (or what the future near and distant has in store for us and whether we have any say in it)	333
Letter	410
Index	412