Interdisciplinary academic conference

DANGEROUS SECURITY
Economic, Military, Social and Diplomatic Dimensions

At a time of profound geopolitical change, international tension and uncertainty, security is taking on a new, multidimensional meaning. It calls for a perspective that reaches beyond defence in the traditional sense and also takes into account economic, financial, diplomatic, social and media factors.

We invite you to an interdisciplinary academic conference inspired by the latest book by Prof. Grzegorz W. Kołodko, Niebezpieczne bezpieczeństwo (Dangerous Security).

Representatives of academia, the armed forces and intelligence services, politics, business, diplomacy and the media will debate the key dimensions of contemporary security.

Together we will consider how to combine military security with responsibility for economic stability, the state of public finances and social cohesion, and how effective diplomacy, rational policy and dialogue can reduce the risk of conflict escalation and create conditions for lasting peace.
